SOWING SEEDS FOR FRUITFULNESS

APRIL 12, 2014

IS CMOTO'S CONFERENCE &

“GRAND OPENING”

OF OUR NEW BRANSON MUSEUM

PLEASE CHECK PAGE 4 FOR DETAILS

It will be seven years in September since the vision for a creation museum ministry in the Branson Missouri area was impressed upon us, we believe by the Lord. The Bible talks about the importance of waiting in faith for the things we have asked God for and are expecting. We know that God is totally trustworthy and is always willing to do His part, but we have a part to play as well. It is to stay in close fellowship with Him through His Word and prayer.

Work continues by our willing volunteers at our new location as time and schedules permit. It seems as though we have a tremendous amount of preparation yet to do, but I know that as we continue to trust God He will provide the necessary help and expertise for what has yet to be done.

We have arranged with a local Christian sign company for the preparation of beautiful attractive big signs that will be attached to the museum building, and will be seen coming from both directions. We are planning to hire those wonderful Amish workers to actually put the signs in place. They are fearless when it comes to working on heights, and certainly believe in an honest day's work for reasonable pay.

All this is in preparation for a main purpose—to have a facility that will attract visitors who will then be impacted with truths that support the historical reliability of the Bible, and who will also be exposed to the Gospel of salvation through Jesus Christ. Personal tours will provide for interaction between visitors and tour guides, and prayer needs may be addressed publicly and privately as desired.

Once again, I cannot thank God enough for all of you that are making this missionary endeavor become a reality. Yes, Branson is indeed a unique mission field visited by millions each year. Pray with us that Creation Experience Museum in Branson will be empowered by the Holy Spirit to reach into the hearts of those who visit, and that all who experience it will find that their faith has either been challenged to accept more truth, or that they have been greatly encouraged in their Christian walk.

God bless you. RB

THE OPPORTUNITY LIES BEFORE US

WHEN THE NEW CREATION MINISTRIES OF THE OZARKS MUSEUM IS OPERATING FULL TIME IN THE BRANSON, MO AREA, IT WILL POTENTIALLY REACH THOUSANDS WITH THE GOSPEL MESSAGE STARTING WITH THE EVIDENCE AND WONDERS OF GOD'S CREATION. WITH SEVEN MILLION ANNUAL VISITORS TO BRANSON WE SEE IT AS A HUGE MISSION FIELD. PEOPLE VISIT NOT ONLY FROM ALL OVER AMERICA, BUT FROM AROUND THE WORLD. THEY WILL THEN RETURN TO THEIR HOMES AND CARRY THE MESSAGE OF GOD'S WORD WITH THEM. THIS IS A MINISTRY THAT WILL SHARE THE TRUTH WITH PEOPLE EVERY DAY OF THE WEEK. WE ARE EXCITED TO SEE WHAT GOD CAN DO, AND WHAT GOD CAN DO THROUGH YOU.

A WORLD-FAMOUS CHEMIST TELLS THE TRUTH: THERE'S NO SCIENTIST ALIVE TODAY WHO UNDERSTANDS MACROEVOLUTION

For those to whom the word “macroevolution” is new, it refers to a belief that small biological physiological changes in living creatures could have led to major changes over time causing one creature or organism to change into a completely new and different one. No one questions small changes that have and are taking place in living creatures (called microevolution), but there is no known real scientific evidence for macroevolution.

Dr. James M. Tour, a Professor of Chemistry at Rice University is well known worldwide for his extensive knowledge and experimentation in his specialized area of chemistry. Following are comments by “vitorley” under “Intelligent Design268 Comments” quoting Professor Tour:

I will tell you as a scientist and a synthetic chemist: If anybody should be able to understand evolution, it is me, because I make molecules for a living, and I don't just buy a kit, and mix this and mix this, and get that. I mean, ab initio, I make molecules. I understand how hard it is to make molecules. I understand that if I take Nature's tool kit, it could be much easier, because all the tools are already there, and I just mix it in the proportions, and I do it under these conditions, but ab initio is very, very hard.

I don't understand evolution, and I will confess that to you. Let me tell you what goes on in the back rooms of science—with National Academy members, with Nobel Prize winners. I have sat with them, and when I get them alone, not in public—because it's a scary thing, if you say what I just said—I say, “Do you understand all of this, where all of this came from, and how this happens?” Every time I have sat with people who are synthetic chemists, who understand this, they go “Uh-uh. Nope.” These people are just so far off, on how to believe this stuff came together. I've sat with National Academy members and Nobel Prize winners. Sometimes I will say, “Do you understand this?” And if they are afraid to say “Yes,” they say nothing. They just stare at me, because they can't sincerely do it.

I was once brought in by the Dean of the Department...he was kind of concerned about some things. I said, “Let me ask you something. You're a chemist. Do you understand this? How do you get DNA without a cell membrane? And how do you get a cell membrane without a DNA? And how does all this come together from this piece of jelly?” We have no idea, we have no idea. “Isn't it interesting that you, the Dean of Science, and I, the chemistry professor, can talk about this quietly in your office, but we can't go out there and talk about this?”

Now I understand microevolution, I really do. We do this all the time in the lab. I understand this. But when you have speciation changes, when you have organs changing, when you have to have concerted lines of evolution, all happening at the same place and time—not just one line—concerted lines, all at the same place, all in the same environment...this is very hard to fathom.

I was in Israel not too long ago, talking with a bio-engineer, and [he was] describing to me the ear, and he was studying the different changes in the modulus of the ear, and I said, “How does this come about?” And he says, “Oh, Jim, you know, WE ALL BELIEVE IN EVOLUTION, BUT WE HAVE NO IDEA HOW IT HAPPENED” (emphasis added).

Thank God for honest scientists. I wish there were more of them. What do we learn from this? We learn the truthfulness of Romans 1:18 that ungodly men “suppress the truth in unrighteousness.” TRUE SCIENCE IS BEING SUPPRESSED AND DENIED A PUBLIC HEARING. Yes, Satan is very clever, and Christians need to boldly proclaim the truth that macroevolution as taught in our public schools and educational institutions is not real science. A much more reasonable understanding for which there is abundant support is found in these words, “In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth” (Genesis 1:1).
